4 AMANDA SOLIZ,

5 Plaintiff,

6 v.

7 ELITE SPICES, INC.,

8 Defendant.

Case No. 3:21-CV-0459-RCJ-CSD

ORDER RE LETTER TO DEFENSE COUNSEL

9
10 An Early Neutral Evaluation ("ENE") is set for today's date before the undersigned
11 Magistrate Judge. (ECF No. 7.) ENE statements were due on February 3, 2022, by no
12 later than 4:00 p.m. (Id.) At 9:59 a.m. on this date, February 10, 2022, Plaintiff's counsel
13 emailed to the Court's Judicial Assistant a copy of a six-page letter addressed to 14 Defendant's counsel. The email stated, "See attached for the Judge for today's ENE."

15 The letter is written in the style of a legal brief and appears to be an attempt to
16 supplement Plaintiff's previously provided ENE statement in violation of the Court's order
17 and without leave of Court to do so. (ECF No. 7.) As this violates this Court's December
18 8, 2021 order and Plaintiff was not granted leave to provide this document to the Court in 19 advance of the ENE, the Court will not consider the letter. Any future violations of this 20 Court's order will result in the issuance of an order to show cause why sanctions should 21 not be imposed pursuant to LR IA 11-8(e).

22 IT IS SO ORDERED.

23 DATED: February 10, 2022.
